Just my thoughts obviously. November is finally here. I have seen a lot of these spread to recent months about a man who is a constant winner and overachiever, and that's what the people who support him like about him. Yes, he's been caught in lies and twisted the truth a little but he's still out there proving his haters wrong time after time. Some people are jealous of someone who is successful, powerful, and has a lot of money. There is a hot foreign model at his side and they hate him even more. You may not have wanted him in his role, but he's there now and there's nothing you can do about it. I know it's possibly going to get worse over the next several days, but like him or not, Tom Brady is really turning things around in Tampa. That would be best communicated to Boosa who is in Arizona right now. My guess is that they will see a stop the count legal strategy as creating an inconsistency among our Arizona and PA and GA strategies. They may have the temeritation that our man will lock in the win in Arizona and then they can pursue a stop strategy elsewhere. But they may not appreciate a stop the count vote - helping the vote - man in Our favor. Best way is to get them to carry this message. I shared with Kellyanne but I don't think she has legal strategy i.e. Only reinforcing justice. I just sent her a memo on state legislative strategy. Independent of the fraud, or really along with that argument - Harbinger, Madison, and Leland did not have to sit idly by and submit themselves to rule by being and fans by a Chinese compromised Biden who wants to destroy their economies. They have the constitutional authority to render that judgment. Rush, Levin, conservative talk radio can rally the governors to apply pressure to the weak kneed legislators in their states, and have the country absorb the argument. If the campaign cannot unearth some strange anomalies or irregular patterns in point to that suggest as much absent real evidence of widespread fraud, I think that leaves the campaign to relying with an standard court fights about deadlines and recounts. It seems incredible to me that Biden got most votes in presidential history and that we had outrageous overtime in five states including no states with Detroit, Philly, St. Louis, and Milwaukee. He thinks the Austin County voting machine failure in MI is a big deal because the same machine is used in 17 counties in MI. And he thinks we need to contest the validity of signature verification requirements especially in PA because doing so violates the equal protection clause because you've diluted the value of legitimate votes with an unknown number of fraudulent votes. Because the PA Supreme Court removed the signature verification requirement there is no reasonable effort to ensure valid voters. I can give you his email if you want to reach out to him directly. I have been doing some research and I think the arguments are pretty straightforward and sound. It is a denial of equal protection and dilutes the votes of legitimate voters to fail to implement any protections whatsoever against voter fraud in an election. It is disparate treatment to require an in-person voter to have ID and/or to require an in-person voter to sign the poll book when voting but not have any method of verifying the identity of the voters who vote via absentee ballot. By removing signature verification and postmark verification requirements that were adopted by the Pennsylvania legislature and set forth in state election law the Pennsylvania Supreme Court both removed all barriers to voter fraud, unconstitutionally diluted the votes of legitimate voters in Pennsylvania, and violated the Article II requirement to follow the process "directed" by the State Legislature for the appointment of electors. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court also treated in-person voters differently than absentee voters by requiring identity verification for in-person voters but not for absentee voters; this is another flavor of equal protection violation. Therefore, court rulings should be sought declaring that the method used for voting for president in the 2020 election in Pennsylvania unconstitutionally abridged the rights of legal, legitimate voters. At that point, if the election method employed by PA, as altered by its Secretary of State (who filed the lawsuit to change the rules) and the PA Supreme Court who endorsed her improper request to alter the rules and remove all safeguards, is ruled unconstitutional, it is up to the state legislature to determine the manner of appointing the electors for president. The state legislature	Read	Vince Haley's Phone /mobile/Library/MS/MS.ms.ds : 0x348461 (Table: No message, handle, chat, Size: 125282048 bytes)

(that was idea of proportional share). But it just occurred to me that these state legislators could also choose a state of zero election to send to Congress as an affirmation of no faith in the election outcome. They could effectively wash their hands of it like Perotus Phila. The effect of zero election from enough state legislatures would be just as effective as full data for Trump. There would still likely be a dispute in Congress about which to accept but I believe what would happen assuming all GOP stayed together is that it would be thrown into the House of Representatives. In the new Congress, we control 20 delegations according to the researchers. As I said, Long ball. And one that would take big big stones by a lot of people to carry out. But we need mounting evidence of reasonable doubt about election accuracy. People are working on it. But refusing entry to the ballot counting process is clearly illegal, so why aren't all of the illegal allegations clear and obvious enough to demand a recount? Why isn't the illegal extension of the election deadline sufficient? Why isn't the allowing of mail-in votes, where it hasn't been properly regulated, sufficient to demand a recount? Seems like too many obvious illegal activities have taken place to count on statistical data alone. He should go to North Carolina where voters can still send in their ballots till November 22 and campaign for more votes. He should go to Georgia and discuss the recount that will happen. And he should campaign in Pennsylvania and call for a recount there through rallies that supplement the ongoing litigation he can make his case to the American people and help his supporters keep faith. First, Randy is totally loyal to the President. He is not looking for his next job. He's got plenty of money and is looking to retire. He has no political anxiety, he is keen to return to what he might affect his counsel. He grew up dirt poor in rural Georgia and is about as populist as they come. No need to worry that his counsel could down the road become infected with his own personal calculations. Second, he's an unusual attorney in that he thinks well outside the legal box. I don't know if you are aware that I too am an attorney by background. I haven't practiced for 25 years but I am very familiar with the typical legal mind. The normal legal mind is bound to operate contained within the legal sphere. Not Randy. He understands we are in a much larger fight in which legal actions are only one subset. That's perhaps most important. He has a multi from 360 field of vision for weighing this war. I will give you a good example. If they are bound to that standard, public language is also bounded by those legal standards. It becomes only a legal fight, not a political one. Randy will be advising the president that the currently contested election can be explained and prosecuted in much larger context and across fronts. A few more tests coming. Sent Good. I had a concern yesterday that people was asking that he should get ready to concede. I think I read somewhere somebody close to McConnell suggesting that we need to win the senate majority and the two senate contests in Georgia and that would be far easier if the presidential election contest was gracefully over with president Biden. Everything would be at stake if we had a senate to block bad stuff. But much harder to hold senate majority with a contested election. Thought that was an absurd analysis. Good luck getting grassroots to the polls for two lousy gop senate candidates without Trump in the game, having convicted smother growing evidence of corruption. Newt and Randy emphatically agreed with me that the bottom would fall out in the Georgia senate races. But it's that type of that I worry about. People counting noses in ways that make their own future personal and political lives arguably easier but is not the right thing historically. Various candidates said nice things about policing and their plans. But he picked Bill Bratton, why? Because at the start of the conversation Bratton said he was going to reduce crime by 10% in his first year. And that's what Rudy wanted. He didn't want more arrests. He didn't want faster response times. He didn't want more convictions. He wanted to lower crime. That's the outcome he wanted and NYC needed and wanted. Here's what I am getting at: I believe the president wants to win, so in win the election. Not just put up a respectful fight on his way out. And not just go through all the lawsuits and make sure every legal vote is counted, and maybe it will turn our way and our people will feel we did our best. I say all this because a deliberate plan to win will involve not just recounts. It will involve passing the whole array of fraud and anything that calls into question the integrity of the national outcome of election. If we can calmly as possible make this a war of attrition over the integrity of the election outcome - and by the way, assuming good manners not just fragments of our imagination - then the police-led American tribe might be able to put enough pressure on enough pop-led state legislatures to hold their state certifications as their babies come get to 270 and this thing gets decided in the House. Again, I say all this because I hope I gave good advice to Randy last night that I thought the president - like Rudy - would like to hear even in the conversation today how he can win and not just hear how he can manage election contest in various courts. But you know potas. Was that correct advice for Randy? You bet he is	Sent	Vince Haley's iPhone /mobile/Library/SMS/uns.db - 0:34D1F8C (Table: No message chat, handle, Size: 12328248 bytes)

My opinion is just we should focus on what we know for sure right now. mail in ballots sent in past Election Day in key states including MI, NC, and PA. Dems eliminated signature verification requirements abolishing only safeguard to prevent against fraud. Dems prevented the Green Party from getting on the ballot and the votes the Green Party got in WI and PA are equivalent to the margin of difference between Trump and Biden. mail in ballots create huge potential for double voting. mail in ballots in PA could be sent in without a postage stamp indicating the date due to Dems ruling voting systems in MI and GA have had glitches and in one MI county that means Trump won after a recount of votes instead of Biden, and we need to make this case for recounts and fork over the money to get them done in WI and PA. We will win if the votes are recounted. Mail in ballots due to signature mismatches and a host of other problems. the people signing their name where they are supposed to put the date will get kept out as a result of up to 10% of the state for persons who do not win if we can just get recounts I would focus on securing recounts in key states - just my two cents. 69886	2414	11/8/2020	11/8/2020 11:30:55 PM(UTC+0)	[REDACTED] Will Back	Vince Haley	Vince Haley		No the keeping the Green Party out point just shows the lengths to which Democrats will go to skew the election in their favor and demonstrates how partisan the PA Supreme Court decisions were - a few months before the election they kept off the ballot a party that got 49,000 votes in the 2016 election to give Biden every advantage possible for purely partisan reasons. They hate Democracy when it has the potential to uproot any of their votes. I don't know how stable the PA ballots are after Election Day but we only need to reduce Biden's vote count by 0.2% to trigger a recount in PA. 0.2% is all we need. 69887	2414	11/8/2020	11/8/2020 11:39:53 PM(UTC+0)	[REDACTED] Will Back	Vince Haley	Will Back		847 ballots in Allegheny County alone were received after Election Day. I'm sure there are thousands more from Philly. This would be the 0.2% that we need to trigger a recount. Once a recount starts mail in ballots will get kept out in droves if we have effective poll watching and an effective legal strategy to challenge them. This is going to the Supreme Court. Where they will rule that the election is invalid due to fraud or mistakes on a country wide scale. It will go one of two ways, either they will rule that all the mail in ballots will be removed and the votes ordered to recount without them or they will simply rule the election is invalid due to mass voter fraud and at that point it will be sent to the congress and sent for a vote. This is where it gets good. The house congress votes on who the President will be. It has nothing to do with what party that has power. Every state gets one vote and 50 states are held by Republicans and 28 by Democrats. They have to vote down party lines. They have no choice due to the 12th Amendment of the Constitution and if the Senate votes for the Vice President where a similar event will take place. This is the law. This is why the Democrats are so mad at Nancy Pelosi. This will all happen in January. The only way President Trump won't be President is if he concedes the election and that will never happen. So stop watching the fake news and don't let your heart be troubled and lose your life knowing this will all work out. President Trump will remain President. I have researched all of this and it is a fact. Another fun fact, they call Gore the President Elect for 30 days in 2000 and the courts ruled against him and declared Bush the winner. And two people that were part of that decision were now out of that new Supreme Court Justice, Brett Kavanaugh and Amy Coney Barrett. Why do you think the Democrats tried so hard to keep them from being confirmed. Based on everything I have researched read and heard. Who chose existing in the middle of the night. How do ballot drops go 100 percent in Biden's favor. How does he call Arizona so early but won't call Florida. And we all know about the mail in votes. Who planned all long. Not the number of ballots in each swing state with no down ballot voting was astronomical. 113 thousand people voted for Biden only and no down ballot card size in Michigan I think it was? Please. I will have a response on that shortly. In fact, I am quite concerned about the future of civics education in America and will explain why when I have time to write you a memo. In brief, there is a common core red flag in motion on civics coming down the pike and it is going to impact conservatives. But it's got big names behind it and a growing 'right' coalition. And I don't think the "right" part of that coalition truly know what's going on. Second, with your new ballot integrity initiative, the relevant FGA entity may see real value in doing a daily email to state legislators (and associates and lobbyists and other influencers) that collects the best of articles that day that relates to the various state initiatives looking at state level fraud/investigation/oversight. I will send you a few examples right now. I have no idea whether there exists a central website/organization that is solely chronicling the migration of efforts. Email also better would be superb.

I also have the ability to run this against the Social Security Death Index and the National Change of Address Database.  Matches of the ABS/EEV voters against the SSDI/NCOA list would indicate fraud.  However, I've had zero luck either penetrating the Trump campaign or the DNC, or otherwise getting the support needed to run this analysis. I can do it on my own ("SSDI" or "EAV" in response from data vendors) or Trump/DNC/DataTrust should be able to do this with material they "should" have on hand (or they can cut the meager checks and buy the data for this need).  Anyways, hit the "share" button. Maybe someone who can help with this will see it and reach out to me.  Small Addendum: The money I'm talking about here is solely to buy data from L2Political (the best in the business). I'm not trying to make a single nickel here. Keep in mind that strategy (and a presidential explanation of such) should involve not only legal strategy with constitutional/legal theories and cases. Read. But also political strategy, which involves public appeals to reason that may not be admissible theory/question in a court of law - state and/or federal. For example, why did the counting stop? Why is Ok was there some agreement not to check absentee ballot signatures? [C]. Why were the Wisconsin calls not purged. More soon. It is excellent. After very minor changes, I shared this morning with me here and the other top strategists. The changes had to do with calling for an Oval Office address. I need that done for reasons I will explain later tonight. Do you and your Dad have any reaction to the E. Lon Wood lawsuit filed yesterday in Georgia?

Ok sounds good. Glad it was well received! My reaction is that it is a solid argument but one probably better made to the legislature than to court. I do not have a lot of confidence that a judge is going to invalidate the entire result of an election but the GA legislature might like to know that the only rules they put in place for the election to govern mail-in ballot fraud (signature verification) were effectively thrown in the trash by the executive branch when they surrendered to the Democrat Party in March before making a decision to appoint election on behalf of a candidate. My Dad hasn't read the case yet but will do so later tonight and so of thought. Wood definitely has a point about the law just being disregarded by election administration officials especially when you consider that mail in ballots in GA were rejected at a 4.4% rate in 2018 but are for only being rejected at a rate of 0.2% in this election despite the fact that we have millions more of them being cast.

Can Newt "steal" from the memo wholesale? Or would you/your father like him to cite you both in a newsletter or other publication of his? You probably don't want your name out there. But perhaps there is some reference to your father if he would like. Perhaps cite a privately circulated memo by W Beck, a lawyer in Indiana. Let me know what you think. Newt is asking.

Just for background, my dad has been trying to help the campaign and TruthTheVoice file pleadings and he's already received incredible pushback from his major client for doing that and considering putting his name on the pleadings. His client has told him to take a leave of absence and even though he's worked with them for 20 years they are demanding to terminate the relationship. My dad wants to help in any way he can and will put his name on things as necessary, but he wants to be cautious as well.

In some ways the answer seems obvious, and you certainly know your history much better than I, but it is potentially one of the biggest, most explosive scandals in the history of this country and the media has no interest? What is going on out there? This is crazy even. My head is going to explode. What can this one little guy do to make a difference?

RNC said last week they were going to re-file the AZ case they dropped (1). They drew a terrible judge so maybe that explains it. Then, I have a private legislator who is filing for a recount with signature verification. Then, there is a 19th group of private litigators who are filing something...not sure yet what but they were considering bringing the same claim as the RNC had. There is a fourth group affiliated with Cleta Mitchell and Christian Adams that had even earlier the RNC. No idea where that stands. I oversee the U.S. intelligence community and my office produces the President's Daily Brief, a highly classified collection of intelligence relating the threats facing our country. If I could communicate one thing back to the American people from this unique vantage point, it is that the People's Republic of China poses the greatest national security threat to America today, and the greatest threat to democracy and freedom worldwide since World War II. Our intelligence is clear: China intends to dominate the United States and the rest of the planet economically, militarily and technologically. Many of China's major public initiatives and most well-known companies offer only a thin veneer of legitimacy to the nefarious activities of the Chinese Communist Party. I call their economic espionage approach "rob, replicate, and replace." They rob American companies of their intellectual property, replicate their technology, and replace our companies in the global marketplace. As one example, the Chinese company Sinovel stole wind turbine technology from American Semiconductor, resulting in the U.S. company losing over $1 billion in shareholder value and losing 900 jobs. Today, Sinovel sells wind turbines worldwide as if it built a legitimate business through ingenuity and hard work, rather than Here is retired General Rob Spaulding's contact information. Yes, still alive, gratefully so. Very aggressively trying to figure out the "next right thing." Have we talked about that verbal formulation before? I have formerly employed it before at work on various subjects. I ripped it from Frozem 2. Sorry for the radio silence. I feel at ripped in too many directions work and home. I have taken up Mom's practice of sitting in the car before going to the house when returning home. Even this text has taken a long time as it's keeps interrupting me with tales of her muffin baking, and then my re-creating a speech for today. In next thing, not looking to move anywhere outside the imperial city. Most likely will try and help lead the Republican forces from within the battery. Politics is the only a bike you always have to keep pedaling if you hope to get where you are going, along with a little Lou-like [D-Best] calm and determined attitude over the long haul. This coming week should be a little better to grab a sandwich in nearby boarded up Washington DC. Thanks! probable best. Happy relaxed Thanksgiving and Happy early Christmas. Love Vince. I appreciate his recommendation on giving money to folks to get their own. But I can see a large donor willing to provide our offering even six month transitional short term insurance to get started. It might be a small advantage but if we can tell a F&CE or some other such person that we offer transitional health insurance as of Feb. In part of their joining us, it might help with a few people. A donor might get that. The don't want "bait" to do research, just if he knows some plans. Slipping on foot not the concern. Another big idea for oped. As an observation about our founding, showing that from the very beginning America was about freeing people from oppression. No other country was about self government. It is religious liberty. We built as a response to oppression, which led us to rebel against all forms of tyranny against man, including slavery. God is directly connected to that. We rebel against any assault that violates the God given rights and dignity of every person.

Let me know if you have time for a follow up conversation about the year ahead. Ross and I are figuring out whether and what role we might play in the Trump memoir/books and follow on organization(s). We have also been getting our own company focused on corporate public relations (best descriptor for the moment). But I am very keen to understand the additional path of working with you and APR, especially on the "history" (principles/1776/American) storytelling. We have another colleague here I want you to know. Robert Gabriel, 22 years old. He's basically run the WH as Stephen Miller's administrative assistant. Good manager who is drawn to the creative world. Which is why he was drawn to speechwriting in 2016 campaign. Very good. He was going to try and get involved in music business. He's from New Jersey originally. Terrific guy. I see him potentially merging/contributing to whatever level of creative effort you might have in mind for Haley/Worthington/Dolan.

Probably the most recognized, well known person on the planet - CIA President Donald Trump, just proclaimed the birth of Jesus Christ in one of the simplest, most direct, biblically correct and beautiful way (emphasized by the well done video), and it is completely unknown to most people. I think the Becket proclamation is a neat idea and certainly we could make a strong statement about religious freedom. (Just think that not a lot of Americans will know who Becket is and since he's from old England the link to America will be difficult to make. If we are looking to make a statement about religious liberty, it is the 400th anniversary of the pilgrims landing on Plymouth Rock this year which could be good material for a proclamation. On Becket, we should be able to see the British influence on the American experience since we inherited so much from British history. I think the pilgrims got a proclamation. I am much more interested in the person of Becket as a possible circumlocution. We would do it only if we could make some sturdy observations how important it has been throughout our history for people of faith to take strong stands for justice based upon their religious convictions. Becket must have been some sort of model - not just for churchmen but also for lay people. For example, if we were to discover that Becket was an inspiration for Patrick Henry, that would be oh so cool. We don't need that, but we can have Becket stand for proposition that some things are worth standing up for and doing for in terms of the defense of decency and freedom. Leave a gap of 2-4 sentences for rationale for why relevant to the United States today - although for sure you can take a stab. Follow the Rodney model. Start with a simple factual catalog of the anniversary and what set of events we are commemorating. Caring what happened in aftermath by Henry 2, apartheid, venetians, etc. Also catalog the impact on culture - the books and also include the 1968 Hollywood movie. Then creatively think about the "lessons" part of proclamation for what Becket's martyrdom means for us today. We can transform more by phone on this score. I am writing in the event that you have nothing going on this afternoon the day after Christmas. In any event, I have an extra slot for bowling this afternoon at 5 pm. I am taking the bus to the Truman bowling alle. Because of social distancing, it's limited the number of people who can go. We are going to take a couple of pizza. Sorry it's just one slot. Only asking in case you are only lounging on that big comfortable sofa watching reruns of the Boss.	Sent	Vince Halley's iPhone /mobile/Library/SMS/uns.db - 0:3885F8D (Table: No message chat, handle, Size: 129282048 bytes)

In a way that certainly was not true when heritage and historical media and Comm's the risk of the walk. With a view toward having office space and health insurance - all nice things - I think the Brooke operation will be hindered by having to have a big budget to meet. And they almost certainly are not thinking from the Comm's imperative backwards. Just think about this notion: we go live with a great website on 21 January. Within the first week we could have a Rutledge and a Miller and a Kell and an Amb event with Center for a Great America branding talking about the weaknesses and challenges of the incoming administration. The guess is that Brooke won't have any such start. She's probably great on TV but who are they going to put on TV? Larry is going to go back to CNBC. The three "founders" were all with the 2018 campaign, most notably working together to create and compile on the contract with the American voter poll's analysis in the closing weeks of the campaign that became the governing agenda at the start of the administration that Steve Barron had tasked to the wall and systematically was checking off. We then carried that collaboration through to the tax reform fight, and most recently worked closely together to help produce the widely acclaimed RNC convention (of course many many others contributed to that success so we need to be careful but the possibilities). In short, we have good story to tell about ourselves and our involvement policy and communications wise to donors and journalists. And while we are not per se in competition with Brooke et al, WE WERE WITH TRUMP BEFORE HER AND KUDLOW JOINED. JUST SAYING. END OF CAPS. He asked his very willing senior advisor Cliff Sims. If he was interested in joining and helping Jim launch it. Cliff then asked two of his close collaborators in the WH if they could help advise and support the launch and advice on an ongoing basis. She makes some good points. For example, she is probably right that we should not foreclose the idea of getting Brooke build the infrastructure, raise the money, get us office space and healthcare, and then we run those portions of the empire that we care about within the larger framework. We don't have to spend time getting doctors. Brooke would probably say yes to almost anything we wanted to do. She certainly would not control whatever anyone did to help facilitate his activities. But more than that, she might even like to let's say let's say a Raftello idea to build a center for it within whatever their branding is for the larger foundation. With pompers going elsewhere, Raftello might be senior most cabinet figure dealing in national security matters and could suggest a design for what that would look like. And whenever you are in town, pair of the deal is that you have a place to hang your hat. Perhaps Raftello could get some compensation for himself and for you, and some kind of Conting title that credentials you with media. In short, maybe we could be highly effective leveraging the infrastructure is building like we did in WVA, even fundraising for certain dedicated activities within larger superstructure. Really really great. I made new or run minor tasks. Also of Read you could find a way to say that they want to use our tax dollars for a massive increase in the size of the federal bureaucracy. Something along those lines. Yes to pay for isolation. Keep that. But conceivably it means a massive expansion of federal bureaucracy to micromanage every aspect of our lives. ALSO, you should be sure to add a line about attacks on Catholics or little sisters of the poor in some fashion. We need a strong line on religious liberty if not there and that could be a way to stop that attacks on people of faith Catholics. And it would be nice to add something about saving the suburbs. Essentially I want to reserve the south coast sometime before the 19th. One hour top. Maybe 90 minutes. Stephen is seated in middle. Speechwriting folks starting with me deliver a few speeches. But the main event is a reel of podium speeches of key lines from each. But we need a suitable background soundtrack. And we will need someone who knows how to stitch it all together. That part I am not sure of. I don't know if we could get any of the digital folks to do that. I'd pay someone to do it if I knew the right person on the outside. I am going to send you a movie clip from Cinema Paradiso. It's such a serene but instead of speech clips, it is kissing scenes from movies. The background is the guy watching with a child when he used to help on the movie house when he was young. He befriended the old man who ran the projector. When he was young they didn't allow any kissing on screen so they cut all the kisses out. Anyway, he left town as a young man and never saw the old man again. He became a big shot in the movies. And when the movie had shown he hears that his old friend has died. He goes back for funeral. Seen town for first time in decades. It's all changed. But he sees familiar faces. And his mom gives him that reel as the one thing his old friend wanted to leave for him. So that reel he is watching is a long sweet goodbye of friendship from his old friend. Sending link separately.	Sent	Vince Haley's iPhone /mobile/Library/SMS/sms.js: 0x391F8D0 (Table: No message, chat, handle; Size: 12920048 bytes)

I hope you and your family are safe, and I hope the past couple of months haven't been too rough on you. I'm off to bed now, I work overnight at a UPS warehouse now, but I'm free to talk again in the eve if you'd ever like to. No pressures/truth though, I know you're very busy. I appreciated the reflection on Thomas Becket because I know it came from you. He is a man who should be honored for his integrity. However, in the interest of full honesty to you, seeing that tribute above the name of Donald Trump makes me cringe. Quite frankly, Vince, I will go to my grave never understanding how you can continue to support this delusional man who claims he won the election and is even now attempting to interfere with the election in Georgia by threatening the Secretary of State in order to "find him" 11000 votes or so. I pray to God that you are not a part of this man's assault on democracy that literally scares me for the future of our country. The entire price of Joe Biden's victory has ALWAYS been the acceptance of and the belief in our electoral process and the dignified and peaceful transfer of power which this president is so selfishly trying to keep from happening. I understand and appreciate differences in political positions and ideology. That is what has made our country great and admired by the rest of the free world. I even understand the financial reasons why some support Republican's issues (I could easily have voted for John McCain in 2008). That is why some of my friends initially voted for Trump. But at some point one has to recognize that there are some things more valuable than $$$$$. The fact that our country is so dangerously divided lays right at the feet of "pump and his personality and style. And please, do not come at me with his stance on abortion. Not for a minute do I believe this man is going to be conveniently go-birth and nothing more. He seems to be taking particular delight in pushing executions before he leaves office. Does I write the above days ago and decided not to send it. But the shameful and embarrassing behavior today that was incited by the former president such to basically a mad man who should be held accountable for this. Today's behavior is entirely his fault. Fir so angry at any who support this man I cannot react rationally. I feel sad for you and others who have been taken in by him. If I were not certain that every decision they make is calculated with the purpose of taking our country down, I'd accuse them of being completely tone deaf. The anger, frustration, feeling of helplessness, and sadness is overwhelming at times. Let those remaining in the administration, committed to the cause, know that they are supported by many, many that I talk to, hang in there. And then the only phrase that was memorized was "united we stand" he said a few nice things about his decision to the nation, but he also said "systemic racism" and "truth vs lies" which were virtually copy and pasted from his campaign speeches. It has no concrete thesis other than maybe "unity" which was very dispersed in a guiding principle of the speech. Platitude after platitude - exceptionally mediocre in my opinion. What a momentous day. Made out the way you hoped this stage would end but what an amazing experience Vincent! I think after of the time visiting you at your office and getting a tour and as we walked out from the executive office building by the west wing, you stopped at the top of the steps and had us take in the view - I loved that moment. I know you never look in for granted. I'm so proud of you and happy that you were there at this time in history. Thanks for your service to our country. It was a sacrifice in many ways. You might probably see if you can familiarize yourself with first 100 days of Clinton administration. He came in as a supposed moderate but then took a few steps that revealed the radical - especially he moves gay in the military. The point is that he made some mistakes that can't be repeated but to be more of a radical. Biden's deactivating Commission could be a key early mistake that drives a narrative. If we are arguing about the founding and he's on the side of group lower rights and systemic racism we are winning. The modern left is leaving MAGA behind. As I explained to Chris, Ross and I want to help him get set up with a book, speeches, consulting, podcast headshots etc. If starts with getting the book in motion - I have already said to him that he should really use a lawyer to review his book agency agreement and that I would recommend you - not because the agreement is complex it should be very simple and straightforward but that he would be smart to get to know you and get your advice on how he legally structures his world going forward. By the way, I don't remember whether you even review book agency agreements or whether that was something you turned over to someone else in McEntena. If a book agency agreement is not your thing, would you have a later recommendation? Thanks! As I recall, there is really almost nothing to the typical book agent agreement. In this case it's mostly an amended version for you two to get connected. When you are up here in February, maybe you can block 90 minutes to it with Chris. I am expecting to get the agency agreement early this week. Thanks.	Sent	Vince Haley's iPhone /mobile/Library/SMS/sms.ds : 0x3813F8D (Table: No message, chat, handle; Size: 129282048 bytes)
